Favorite church/youth memory: I love attending Camp Deer Run every summer. This year I will be a counselor which is a full circle moment. At the end of the day, the counselor tells the story of what happened. Basically, he said I was hanging on to him for dear life and I drug him into the pond. I was awarded the feather at the end.

Shout out to: My parents, mom especially. She has been there through thick and thin. We like to have our daily talks about how each other's day was.

Graduates, today we celebrate not just your accomplishments, but the journey God has ahead for you. As you step into college and new chapters of independence, remember that your identity is not just in what you do, but in whose you are. Proverbs 3:5-6 says, "Trust in the Lord with all your heart and lean not on your own understanding; in all your ways submit to him, and he will make your paths straight." College will bring questions, challenges, and opportunities—but through it all, you are not alone. Stay rooted in Christ, and let your faith guide your decisions, friendships, and purpose. You were created for more than success—you were created for significance. Carry with you the truth that God's plans for you are good, even when they're not always clear. Shine His light boldly, love others generously, and never be afraid to stand firm in what's right. Go into this next season not just as students, but as ambassadors of hope, joy, and truth. You're not just going to college—you're being sent into the world to make a difference.
